FOR BEST ENLARGEMENT

Portrait

This is a photographic portrait of a person who is posing for the camera. The subject should be making eye contact with the viewer but this is not a hard and fast rule. The picture should show the subject's character and mood, happy, sad, serious etc. Lighting is very important and where ever possible natural light should be used. Flash can be used as a fill in if the subject is in shadow but try to avoid direct flash as this produces "red eye" in the subject, is very unsightly and not suitable in competition. Keep the pose simple and comfortable and avoid fussy or messy backgrounds. A background that distracts the viewer from the subject will penalise your picture. Avoid objects behind that look as if they are growing out of the subject's head. Chopping off part of a person in the photo is also undesirable unless you are using tight framing and only want the subject's head and shoulders. The photo should be printed in portrait and not landscape format.

Group Study

All of the previous comments apply. The object of this class is to produce a posed portrait of a group of people, like a family or a wedding group. Again pay attention to background and lighting, don't have your subjects squinting into bright sunlight.

Pet Portrait

All of the rules that apply to humans apply to pets. The pet should fill as much of the picture frame as possible and again check out your background for anything that will distract the viewer (and the judge) away from your subject. Try to get down to their level for best results.

Architecture

This is basically a portrait of a building designed to show the building off to its best advantage. The photo should be filled with the building and the scenery that has nothing to do with the building excluded. If there are vehicles parked in front that block your view perhaps you should wait until they are gone before taking the picture. Bright diffused sunlight is the best light, try to avoid bright midday light that throws deep shadows.

Landscape and Seascape

The object of the exercise is to try to convey to your viewers the things that interested you in the picture in order to interest others so exclude all other distractions. If you are taking a photo of the horizon in a seascape make sure it is level, many good compositions have been penalised for tilted horizons.

Sunrise and Sunsets

We have some magnificent sunsets in WA, some of the most spectacular in the world. Pointing a camera at the sky to photograph one, means that everything else on the ground will be a dark shadow. Minimise the dark area as much as possible in the picture but include interesting silhouettes that will add to the interest of the picture. Experiment is the best advice and as it is the sky that provides the interest, exclude all that intrudes except to provide a little framing or depth. The judge will be looking for impact more than anything in this class and it is keenly contested.

Open

This class is for any subject not covered by the rest of the program. All entries will be judged for impact above all else since they will have to compete against several differing subject matters. Technical correctness is a must. An entry whose subject matter is covered by another class will be shifted to that class at the discretion of the steward or the judge.

The following points will penalise your picture.

- Cluttered and messy backgrounds
- Tilted horizons
- Out of focus or blurred from a shaky camera
- Writing or labels on the front (turn off date functions for competition photos)
- Subject not filling the frame, especially portraits
- Part of the subject chopped off (feet or an arm)
- Not conforming size restrictions (too big or too small)

What the judge is looking for when judging

- Impact – does it leap out and grab you
- Technical correctness – composition, focus, redeye etc
- Presentation – Clean, no writing on the front no date
- Does it conform to size requirements – an overlarge picture will be penalised even if it is a better photo – a small photo penalises itself.

Digital Manipulation

Pictures must not be excessively manipulated by a computer program to alter their original form or to exclude or enhance parts of the original picture. The use of cropping, brightness, contrast, lightness and darkness and hue adjustments are permissible. Photos must be printed on photo quality paper by either a commercial or home printer. Pictures that have been manipulated, enhanced or even made up from several different subjects using a computer program may only be presented in the Digital Manipulation classes. Artistic creativity, imagination and impact are important for this class.

4. FLORAL ART - your plant material can be grown by the individual exhibitor, bought or borrowed.
5. If an entry states 'no restrictions', manipulation of plant material is allowed. Use of accessories, bases, drapes, decorative wiring, dried, dyed or painted materials all allowed but must not predominate.
6. Never rely on accessories alone to interpret your theme. The plant material, choice of line, colours and textures are your best tools. Nevertheless a well chosen accessory of high quality well integrated into the design could add to the beauty of the display. Flowers should always dominate.
7. Judging will be conducted under the Standards and Classifications of the WA Horticultural Council.
8. NND = Not Necessarily Distinct. (Distinct means different colours.)
9. NES = Not Elsewhere Specified.
10. PANSIES must be shown with collar. Specimen flowers to have own stem and foliage. 'Collar' means white round cardboard to support petals.
11. ROSES to be shown with the buds clipped off very close to the stem except floribunda. ROSES TO BE NAMED IF KNOWN.
12. BOWL: a container with diameter equal to, or greater than its height. Diameter of the mouth is to be no less than two thirds of the total diameter. Anything less is defined as a Vase.
13. VASES: Internally line clear glass vases with foil or other so stems are not visible. Height should be greater than width. Flowers are to be two times the height of the vase.
14. Oasis or Floral Foam must be concealed.
15. Classes 8-10 are to be displayed with flower head and one or two leaves as support.
16. CACTUS: a plant belonging to the Cactaceous Family.
